Tension Mounts In Coal Crisis As Policy Unit Convenes Today

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, May 7 (AP)—In an atmosphere of tension and crisis John L. Lewis assembled the policy committee of his United Mine Workers today to report on the status of negotiations for ending the 37-day-old soft coal strike.

The closed-door session (at 2:30 p. m., E.S.T., conceivably might prove the forerunner of a "break" in the deadlocked bituminous contract dispute, but evidence of optimism was conspicuously absent among the key government officials concerned.

There were veiled hints that some administration move was in the making to deal with the snowballing crisis, but no indication when it might materialize—except the time was not yet.

The effects of the strike meanwhile kept multiplying. Industrial leaders warned of impending large-scale shutdowns which could strangle reconversion. Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, in his capacity as solid fuels administrator, asserted that wartime coal rationing may have to be reimposed, even if the dispute is speedily ended.

Congressional voices were raised in angry denunciation of Lewis, and work was started on legislation aimed at sharply curtailing his power.

Blood Pressures Rising

But Lewis kept quiet.

If Lewis had a government proposal for speeding a settlement, he gave no advance inkling of it. And nothing positive emerged yesterday from the hour-long White House strike conference which closeted President Truman with Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman.

Prior to the meeting of the UMW policy committee, another session was scheduled in the negotiations between representatives of the union and mine owners. Government conciliator Paul W. Fuller, however, got the negotiators to agree yesterday not to discuss what was occuring in their meetings.

Lewis did not attend yesterday's sessions.

Blood pressures on Capitol Hill were rising. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) called for legislation to make it a crime to conspire to halt public utility services. He said the strike was threatening a "complete breakdown" of the nation's utility and health services.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) declared that 700,000 textile workers dependent on power for machines would be idle soon for lack of fuel.

Egypt Issue Stirs Commons

London, May 7 (AP)—Great Britain proposed today to withdraw its armed forces from Egypt, a decision that provoked a challenge in Commons from Conservative Leader Winston Churchill as "one of the most momentous I have heard in the House."

Prime Minister Attlee yielded to Churchill's insistence on "immediate debate" which was fixed for 7 p. m., tonight (2 p. m. EDT).

Attlee announced the Labor government's decision briefly, asserting that Great Britain intends to carry on negotiations for treaty revision with Egypt "as between two equal nations."

Churchill was interrupted by an uproar from the Labor benches when he declared that "after 60 years of diplomacy and administration x x."

Support for Churchill

Communist Philip Piratin shouted "long enough!"

Churchill then finished his sentence: "x x x things built up with great labor are cast away with great shame and folly."

Under questioning by the wartime Prime Minister, Attlee said the announcement did not affect the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. He said the Sudan was "a different matter altogether."

Churchill's voice quivered with anger as he demanded immediate debate. All the opposition members rose together to support the demand.

Anthony Eden, who was Foreign Secretary when the 1936 treaty of alliance was signed, said that under the treaty Egypt and Britain "together assumed responsibility for the defense of Egypt and the Suez Canal."

"How can that be reconciled with the statement just made?" Eden asked.

BULLETINS

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Soft coal deliveries to domestic consumers were barred today unless the customer has less than five days' supply based on actual needs.

The order was issued by the solid fuels administration in a series of moves designed to conserve the diminishing supply of bituminous coal. Mining has been halted since April 1 by the United Mine Workers strike.

COUNCIL WILL TELL PUC ABOUT R.R. CROSSINGS

The borough's annual "clean-up" and removal of ashes and rubbish will end just prior to Memorial Day, it was directed by borough council Monday night. Official deadline was placed at June 1.

Members of the highway committee and the council will meet at the engine house Saturday at 1 p. m. to make a survey of the borough streets. Numerous street repairs and sewer improvements were discussed at Monday night's meeting in the engine house.

Thirty-day notices were directed sent to property owners on Hanover street to repair curbs and drive entrances in conformity to state highway regulations before work is started by the state on improving the street.

Report Crossings

Council also directed that the Public Utility Commission be notified that the Western Maryland and Reading railroads have failed to make repairs to their crossings within the borough. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, borough engineer, told council that he had written the Western Maryland relative to repairs, and that the railroad, under date of March 29, had promised prompt attention. He said no repairs had been started yet. Winebrenner said he had spoken to Henry Garvin, Reading agent, about the crossings.

Following discussion on the width of driveways, this matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

Burgess C. A. Heiges said he believed the width should be limited in the permits to ten feet, and asked that the ordinance be changed. There is no limit placed in the present ordinance, he said. He also wanted the ordinance to limit the permits to not more than two drives to an applicant.

Mr. Winebrenner recommended that the present charge of $10 be changed to $1 a foot, with drives not to exceed 30 or 40 feet, with islands between. The question of automobiles being parked in front of a driveway on Chambersburg street, and the recommendation for parking on one side of the street only on Breckenridge and South streets, were also referred to the committee. The present ordinance carries no provision prohibiting parking in drives, Borough Counsel Eugene V. Bulleit said.

New Sewer Lines

Painting of signs at the entrances to the borough was left to the burgess, and trimming of trees and shrubbery in Center Square was referred to the property committee and the borough engineer. The property committee was also given authority to purchase an army truck. The sewer committee was empowered to lay new sewer lines "where found necessary," following receipt of requests for sewers in Railroad street, Fairview avenue, Reservoir street, to the new plant of the Inductive Equipment corporation, and to the Duttera property on Queen street.

A preliminary report on flood control of Stevens Run was submitted and referred to the borough engineer to make final report at the next meeting.

Council adopted a motion to take no action on amending the present ordinance limiting installation of gasoline tanks within the borough to 1,500 feet of an ordained street. A month ago an amendment was passed reducing the distance to 300 feet, but the burgess refused to sign it on the ground that it would leave the situation "wide open" for installation of tanks in residential neighborhoods. The Farm Bureau Cooperative sought a permit to install tanks along the Reading Railroad near North Washington street.

MISS WARTHEN WEDS SATURDAY

In a setting of spring flowers and lighted candles at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Emmitsburg, Saturday at 10 a. m., Miss Mary Eugenia Warthen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Warthen, West Main street, Emmitsburg, and Michael James Bobanic, of Aliquippa, Pa., were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis Stauble, pastor of the bride.

During the mass, Paul Callahan, cousin of the bride, Miss Emma Warthen, aunt of the bride, and Mary Elizabeth Wetzel, sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," "Mother At Thy Feet," Gounod's "Ave Maria," "Oh! Lord I Am Not Worthy," and "Tis the Month of Our Mother." Mrs. Euphemia Rotering, church organist, played "To a Wild Rose," and traditional processional and recessional marches.

To Sing Here

Twenty-five years as an evangelistic singer, 20 of them with Billy Sunday, is the record of Homer Rodeheaver, who will give a concert in St. James Lutheran church, Thursday evening, at 8:15 (D.S.T.). The concert, which is open to the public, is sponsored by the Adams County Christian Endeavor Union.

Mr. Rodeheaver will have with him his famous trombone which he carried when he marched off to the Spanish-American war, then later to the front lines during the World War I, and which brought him world-wide fame as he campaigned with Billy Sunday.

J. KENDLEHART QUITS COUNCIL

Joseph D. Kendlehart third ward councilman for the past four and a half years, tendered his resignation to the borough council at its regular meeting in the engine house Monday night. He told council he was employed at the Naval Ordnance plant in York, and could not hold both positions. His resignation was accepted with regret. No appointment was made to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Kendlehart's is the second resignation from the borough council in recent weeks. Councilman Vernon L. Corle resigned when the duties of a new position took him out of town. Council President Ray Hoffman, Monday night, named Mr. Corle's successor, Wilbur J. Stallsmith, to the same committee designations held by Mr. Corle. He was chairman of the sewer committee and member of the health and utility committees.

Council voted unanimously to pay Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster an annual salary of $2,400, effective May 1. Chief Harpster became chief of police November 1, 1945, succeeding Glenn Guise, who resigned the position. He has been receiving $2,000 a year salary. The increase was granted on the recommendation of the safety committee.

Council designated its president, Ray M. Hoffman, to represent it at a meeting at the Elks clubrooms May 14 when plans will be made for the observance of Flag Day June 14.

RECEPTION FOR NEW MEMBERS

Nearly 300 attended a reception Monday evening at St. James Lutheran church for the 134 new members received into that church during the past year. The program was sponsored by the three missionary societies of the church. Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh presided.

The Lincoln school orchestra, comprising 25 musicians, and directed by Richard B. Shade, presented a number of selections. Ross Sachs sang several numbers accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Luther I. Sachs. Miss Ruth Martin also presented several vocal solos. She was accompanied by Miss Alice Snyder.

A "Family Album" was presented by a number of members of the church. The "album" consisted of a large frame into which stepped the actors in full costume to depict various members of the family as they might be seen in an old family album.

Pastor Speaks

Miss Ruth Scott acted as narrator. Among those who had parts in the "album" were Mrs. George Rightmyer, William I. Shields, Joyce Vanderwaal, George Cushon, Mildred Coshun, Elmer Schriver, Mrs.

FATHER STOCK'S ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED HERE

The 25th anniversary of the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock's pastorate as rector of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church was celebrated Monday evening at a banquet held by the Queen of Peace Council of the Pennsylvania Catholic Beneficial league. The dinner was held in the social rooms at St. Francis Xavier school.

Presentation of a cassock to Father Stock by the members was a highlight of the meeting, which also celebrated the 28th anniversary of the founding of the local PCBL council.

Mrs. George F. Eberhart, past president of the PCBL, in presenting the priest the cassock from the PCBL, paid high tribute to the priestly character of Father Stock and gave a brief recounting of his pastorate here.

Cites Accomplishments

During the past 25 years, she pointed out, the parish has built a new convent, the entire outer structure of the church has been improved, the school has been modernized and a large sum has been accumulated towards the remodeling of the school sometime within the next several years. Improvements to the church cost more than $70,000, the convent was built at a cost of $18,000, more than $10,000 was spent on the school and the rectory was remodeled.

Speaking of the PCBL, Father Stock termed the organization one of the best societies for Catholic women. The organization has 150 members and Father Stock urged "all of you to interest your daughters and your friends in joining. I hope the next 28 years will be blessed by as many favors as the last 28 years."

Four Charter Members Present

Four charter members, Mrs. C. E. Swisher, Mrs. Mary Ramer Eberhart, Mrs. Rebecca Martin and Miss Rose G. Topper were present and introduced. Among the past presidents attending the dinner were Mrs. Swisher, Mrs. Eberhart, Mrs. M. J. Flynn, Mrs. Anna Cunningham, Miss Topper, Mrs. Jacob Small, Mrs. Charles Zhea and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

The occasion also marked the 37th anniversary of Father Stock's ordination as a priest.

Mrs. Zhea was chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner and Mrs. Noel Flynn, president of the council, presided.

Town Offered Battle Painting

A 72- by 98-inch original painting of the battle of Gettysburg depicting Gen. George G. Meade, as the central figure in a group of Union officers, is for sale, and Gettysburg will have the first chance at its purchase, if any individual or group here is interested, the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce learned at its meeting Monday night.

The painting, done in 1868 by F. A. Wenderoth, has been offered to Gettysburg by Gimbel Brothers, New York city, for $1,625. Its original price was $6,500, a letter to the Chamber said. If Gettysburg is not interested, it will be placed on public sale within a short time on the William Randolph Hearst floor of the Gimbel store.

He became a master mechanic and for many years worked for the Hanover Traction company until his retirement.

Historic Rheims Now Nearly Deserted; Quiet Anniversary

Reims, May 7 (AP)—The city of Reims, where one year ago today Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl scratched his name on a document which sent the European phase of World War II into the archives of history, observed the first anniversary of the surrender quietly—with too few soldiers in town to hold a parade.

The citizens and soldiers observed the day mainly by visiting the surrender room in the "little red schoolhouse," the former "war room" of supreme headquarters, allied expeditionary forces, which has become a French national shrine and a place where visitors may absorb a bit of the atmosphere of history.

The room has been preserved exactly as it was at the moment of the German capitulation.

The war maps are there, the weather maps, railway maps and supply maps. A "layon" board lists air force missions of the following day. There is a chart of allied casualties as of May 6, 1945, showing 122,072 killed in action; 468,267 wounded and 71,561 missing. Next to it is a chart in the form of a Nazi swastika, showing 4,035,051 German prisoners taken.

In the center of the room is a long, scarred and begrimed table where the historic surrender document was signed. Placed around it are 13 straightbacked wooden chairs, with placards showing who occupied them.

Unless the visitor looks closely he is likely to miss a piece of paper pasted on the wall near a row of windows. The paper is the "top secret" war room daily summary, No. 335.

It rtads:

"Surrender. The German government surrendered unconditionally at Reims, France, at 0241 hours 7 May 1945. The instrument of surrender was signed by Lt. Gen. W. Bedell Smith for the supreme commander and by General Oberst Gustav Jodl for the German government. Maj. Gen. Ivan Susloparov signed as representative of the Russians, and Gen. Francois Sevez as representative of the French government. Hostilities officially cease at 2301 hours, central European time."

C.C. ANSWERS S.U.V. PROTEST ON 'CIVIL WAR'

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their meeting Monday night, discussed criticism by the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans, of the use of the words "War Between the States" in a circular issued by the Chamber advertising Gettysburg and the Battlefield.

It was pointed out that the chamber "spends thousands of dollars" to attract visitors to Gettysburg, that much of this literature goes to southern states, whose people object to the word "Civil War," and that the Chamber could not antagonize people it was inviting to visit Gettysburg.

Delay Dinner Plans

It was voted to maintain membership in the Pennsylvania state Chamber of Commerce, and dues were ordered paid.

C. F. Lenhart, new manager of the Metropolitan Edison company, was a guest at the meeting and was introduced. He said that he had no advance knowledge of any contemplated "brownout" in this area to conserve coal, and declared that he would make the announcement immediately if information were received.

The directors voted to hold in abeyance, because of the coal strike and travel restrictions, plans for a membership dinner. They went on record as favoring a program to acquaint and educate employers and employes in Gettysburg who meet the tourist public with historical and other points of interest here, so that they may be in position to pass such information along to visitors.

Announce Band Contest

The Chamber of Commerce has received word of a band contest being sponsored by the American Broadcasting company and the Woody Herman program, prizes for which include a personal appearance at any place the winner may direct, of the Herman band, plus a $1,000 award.

The chamber was asked to interest itself in obtaining local entries in the contest. The matter, Mrs. Helen Snyder, secretary, said, would be referred to the management of the Blue and Gray band. Details of the contest will be announced on the Woody Herman broadcast May 10 and May 17.

There was a full attendance at the meeting. A. E. Hutchison was named to represent the chamber at a meeting at the Elks clubrooms May 14 at which plans for observance Flag Day June 14 will be discussed.

DOCTORS ASK PARKING SPACE

The safety committee of the borough council was directed, at Monday night's meeting of council in the engine house, to make a survey of parking meter regulations in other cities and boroughs, after Dr. Roy W. Gifford had appeared before council as a representative of the Adams County Medical Society to request special parking privileges for physicians here.

Dr. Gifford submitted replies received by the medical society from three other boroughs, Carlisle, Hanover and Waynesboro. He said no reply had been received from a letter written to Chambersburg authorities regarding parking regulations there. Hanover provides space in front of doctors' offices for loading and unloading of patients only, he said; Carlisle allows free parking space for doctor's own cars and Waynesboro no free parking.

"We would like to have space here in front of our offices for our own cars," Dr. Gifford said. "The times when we might be able to save a life by getting to our cars quickly may be few, but if we can save a life, it is worth while," he pointed out.

Council President Ray M. Hoffman said that "in view of the pressure" he believed the matter should be referred to the safety committee and an invstigation made of several cities. Burgess C. A. Heiges declared that "we might better give them space to park than to allow them to park anyway by not giving the red tickets."

Discuss Rotary Activities Here

A discussion of Rotary activities was held by the members Monday evening at the regular meeting of the organization at the YWCA.

Only 20 were present for the meeting here with most of the other members attending the Rotary District meeting at Lancaster. O. H. Benson and several other members reported on the activities of other Rotary clubs which they attended recently.

Byron Cease, Wife And Daughter Given Suspended Terms In P.O.W. Escape Case

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Byron I. Cease, his wife, and their 18-year-old daughter, Pearl, of Orrtanna, were given suspended sentences of a year and a day yesterday in Federal District Court after they pleaded guilty to charges of harboring a German prisoner of war.

Judge Albert L. Watson placed the parents on probation for one year, and the daughter for two years, for complicity in the escape of the prisoner from an Adams county work camp.

During the hearing in the case Judge Watson read two lengthy letters he said the girl sent to one of the German prisoners. As he read the letters the girl sobbed. Her father took a handkerchief from his pocket and wiped her eyes. Counsel for the Cease family, Attorney Spencer G. Hall, of Harrisburg, told this story to the court:

Exchange Notes

German prisoners occupied a camp near Orrtanna and were assigned to work in a canning factory where Pearl and her mother were employed during the canning season. Prisoners were not permitted to fraternize with other persons in the factory but one of the Germans wrote a note in English to Pearl, smuggling it to her, telling her he wanted to meet her.

Other notes followed and finally the German told the girl he was going to escape to be with her. She warned him against the attempt and asked him to go back to Germany and then return to this country for her.

Last January the German escaped from the camp with another Nazi. They went to the Cease farm together. The parents warned them to go away because they did not want to become involved. Pearl and her mother gave them their meals, however, and later the father took them to an abandoned house a few miles away where they took refuge. He said he wanted to get them off his property.

A day or two later FBI agents and army men recaptured the prisoners and the Cease family was taken into custody.

Judge Watson said that since the war was over when the escape was made a period of imprisonment would serve no good purpose in view of the good reputation borne by the family in Adams county.

Three New Members Receive Lions Pins

Three new "cubs" received membership pins in the Lions club at the service organization's weekly dinner meeting Monday evening at the Reformed church. The pins were presented by President Glenn L. Bream to Paul G. Pensinger, John B. Kendlehart and Richard Hershey.

Mr. Hershey was appointed to represent the club on the community committee being formed by the Elks lodge to plan for a local observance of Flag Day. The Lions discussed plans for representation at the state Lions convention at Pittsburgh. Retiring President Glenn L. Bream; Milton R. Remmel, the incoming president, and Secretary Robert Smith are expected to head the local delegation to the convention city. C. Paul Cessna will be in attendance as a past district governor.

Fifty-three Lions and guests attended the meeting.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindess, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the world's leading geographical societies for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. X-523, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

RED SOX LEAD BY 3 LENGTHS WITH HOT TEAM

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Cronin's critics must be hard up for ammunition today with the Boston Red Sox winging away to an 11-game winning streak and topping the Amerigan league by three games.

Cronin's gang is the hottest thing in baseball this springtime season with the sluggers beating out a .316 team average during the victory spree and 10 of 11 starting pitchers going the route.

Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss and rookie Mickey Harris were supposed to carry the pitching load, but an ex-GI named Joe Dobson, generally overlooked in the early calculations, has been taking the bows with Harris on a perfcet 4-0 win record.

Dobson Again

It was Dobson who handed Hal Newhouser his first loss of the season last week and it was the same 29-year-old righthander from Durant, Okla., who kept the win streak alive by winning yesterday's 5-4 second game from St. Louis after Ferriss had taken the opener, 7-5.

Left fielder Ted Williams has been living up to all expectations with a .411 mark (.481 during the winning streak), and shortstop Johnny Pesky leads the league with a gaudy .430. Center fielder Dominic DiMaggio and catcher Hal Wagner add their slugging to give Boston the first four hitters in the circuit.

Gain On Yanks

Boston gained a full game and a half on the New York Yankees, who fell before Chicago's Thornton Lee, 2-1. Lee, a 38-year-old lefthander, came up with his first decision of the year on an eight-hit effort against Floyd Bevens, winning his own game with a two-run single.

Steve O'Neill of Detroit could find encouraging signs in Virgil Trucks' six-hit, 3-1 decision against Philadelphia. Jimmy Outlaw's homer helped the Tiger cause.

Walt Masterson's relief chucking enabled Washington to make it two straight over Cleveland, 7-4, despite homers by Hank Edwards and Ken Keltner. Jeff Heath hit a two-run homer for the Nats in the fourth off loser Steve Gromek.

No games were scheduled in the National league.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Cincinnati, May 7 (AP)—From the viewpoint of an interested outsider, it seems that baseball's current plaques—the Mexican Jumpers and the Players Guild—offer Commissioner A. B. Chandler a grand opportunity to show that he's the real foreman of the baseball ranch. . . . If Chandler can work out some plan of vigorous action to cope with these two problems and put it into effect, with or without the cooperation of the club owners, there'll be no doubt about his being the head man. . . So far no one in organized baseball has done much, except the Yanks and Dodgers with injunction proceedings and Clark Griffith with his unfortunate remarks about the players' organization. . . This might even be the time to devise a new form of baseball contract which would lessen the "evils" the guild complains about and which the players might regard with more respect—even in the face of $100.000 offers.

SILENT MAN

These various thoughts were suggested to Chandler yesterday and the commissioner, with the wisdom accumulated during a year in office, kept his lips tightly closed. . . Come to think of it, maybe the fact Happy won't talk is a news item in itself. . . He certainly did plenty—as he admits himself—when he first started in the game.

A TOO HOT TAMALE

Chandler won't even say "Mexico" out loud, but he points out the situation might have been different if "those people" had approached organized baseball. . . "We could have helped them get organized," Happy maintains, ignoring the fact that the Mexican league has been organized for years. "We have plenty of players now and could do it. . . We could even play off against their winner. It would be fine to have a series between, say, New York and London. . . I never noticed those fellows offering to help carry the burden when there weren't enough ball players to go around. Now that baseball is prosperous, they try to start something. . . . And if somebody comes out and says he's going to destroy baseball, what would you do?. . . Just roll up your sleeves and say 'let's see you try it.'"

Walk In Tenth Wins For Barons

(By The Associated Press)

The Wilkes-Barre Barons had opposing pitchers to thank today for boosting them into a tie for the lead of the Eastern baseball league.

The Pennsylvanians took a 5-4 decision from Utica as pitcher Dale Jones of the Blue Sox walked Verne Freiburger with the sacks loaded in the 10th inning.

The victory lifted Wilkes-Barre to a first-place tie with the Scranton Miners, who committed seven errors in yielding to the Binghamton Triplets, 9 to 3.

Albany grouped all its runs in two big innings to dispose of Williamsport, 9 to 4.

The league's remaining contest, Hartford at Elmira, was postponed.

In the middle ages, brides carried or wore wheat ears, and the guests, hoping for prosperity, threw grains of wheat over the bride.

PASQUEL FACES LEGAL BATTLES IN BALL RAIDS

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, May 7 (AP)—Jorge Pasquel and his Mexican baseball league faced a legal battle on at least two fronts today as the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers went into court in an effort to halt the raids on their high-priced talent by the millionaires from south of the border.

A hearing on Yankee President Larry MacPhail's petition for a permanent order restraining the Mexican league from attempting to lure his players away was to begin at 9 a. m. (EST) in New York Supreme Court.

On the eve of this struggle, Federal Judge Rubey M. Hulen issued a temporary restraining order in St. Louis enjoining the Pasquel organization from "unlawfully interfering" with the Brooklyn Dodgers and set May 14 for hearing on a request for a permanent injunction filed for the club by a St. Louis attorney.

To Seek Injunctions

MacPhail declared, meanwhile, that the Yankees would seek injunctions against the Mexican league and its agents in every state where his team plays and President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers said he would resist the efforts of Jorge Pasquel and his brothers in every way he could.

Bernardo Pasquel, vice president of the Mexican league, said in New York that, if necessary, his organization would "go to the Supreme Court to establish the right of our league to offer better salaries than are now open to baseball players on the North American continent."

"Surprise" Promised

"We have offered baseball players better salaries, improved living conditions and reduced working hours to play in Mexico," Bernardo said in a prepared statement on the eve of his appearance in court on the Yankee hearing. "We come into court with no apologies for these actions."

He told a reporter he had received no formal notice of the St. Louis action by the Dodgers but declared:

"Just wait a while. We will have a legal surprise for Mr. Rickey, too. A nice big surprise."

EXPECT PHILS TO HIT STRIDE

Chicago, May 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies are in the National league cellar, Manager Ben Chapman sadly admits, "but we're not an eighth place club."

An open date gave the Phils' boss a chance to talk yesterday and he was insistent on one fact—"the Blue Jays are better than the standings show."

"Don't forget," Chapman asserted, "we're only five and a half games out of first place." And he wasn't joking when he said that.

Chapman said the Phils' spirit is amazing and told a reporter about a comment he made after the Jays dropped a close one to Pittsburgh last week. He told his players then:

Resent Remark

"Anyway, we're away ahead of where we were last year."

The players didn't like the remark.

"What do you mean, comparing us with last year's Phillies," Chapman said they yelled. "We're a different team—you'll find out."

Chapman is satisfied that his men are trying hard to win games and will get into their stride sooner than most skeptics expect. He especially dislikes the idea that the Phils are "pushovers."

Sunday the Phils played before 45,505 fans in Chicago, the biggest crowd ever to jam into Wrigley Field.

Jimmy Gallagher, Cubs business manager, was joyful.

"Wasn't that some crowd?" he asked Chapman. "And to think, we were playing the Phils. They certainly couldn't have wanted to see the Phillies—."

Won't Give Up

Replied Chapman: "Well, why not the Phillies?"

To date the Phils have won five, three on the road. They have lost 12.

"Win or lose," says veteran Pitcher Schoolboy Rowe, "we are always the same. We won't give up. All right, we know we lost a lot of games on breaks, but we know we're a better ball club than the records show and that in time those breaks will even up. We'll get our share of good ones, too."

The Medal of Honor was instituted by Congress in 1862 as an award to officers and men for exceptional bravery.

McSherrystown Wins From Littlestown

Fritz Staub hurled steady ball for the victors after getting off to a shaky start, and also hit a homerum in the eighth inning. Bevenour's double with two on produced what proved to be the winning tallies in the second inning.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—The hard-hitting Llo-Da-Mar bowl five of Santa Monica, Calif., one of the last three "name" teams of the 1946 American Bowling Congress tournament schedule, will take the slides at the meet tonight.

The appearance of Buffalo's Joe Miller, former world match game champion, at the meet tonight will mark his return to tournament competition after an absence of a year and a half, during which he exhibited his pinwork for servicemen in this country and overseas.

Miller, who has not won an ABC title, will roll with the Royal Amusement Co. five.

Clippers Take Pony Loop Lead

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—The Batavia Clippers, 1945 pennant winners, led the Pony league today after scoring their third victory of the 1946 season.

The Clippers defeated Hornell 6-4 last night, while in other league games, Bradford won over Jamestown 7-6 in a closely-fought contest and Wellsville defeated Lockport 10-7.

EAST BERLIN DEFEATS N.O.

The East Berlin high batsmen pounded out 16 hits, including four homeruns, to lace the New Oxford high outfit 20-6 in an Adams County league game played at New Oxford Monday afternoon. The game had been rained out on April 26.

East Berlin tabbed seven runs in the first frame and New Oxford came right back with five. However, the winners hit hard in the following four innings to win handily. Wolf hit two homeruns for the winners with Mummert and Jacobs getting single round trippers.

1945 PULITZER AWARD GOES TO SCRANTON TIMES

New York, May 7 (AP)—The 1945 Pulitzer prize for "meritorious public service" has been award to the Scranton, Pa., Times.

The paper was cited for its 15-year probe of judicial practices in a Pennsylvania Federal Court which resulted in the indictment of former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson last September.

Pulitzer awards are made annually by the trustees of Columbia University on the recomemndation of the advisory board of the graduate school of journalism.

The Scranton Times credited the award largely to the work of 38-year-old George H. Martin, assistant city editor, who began investigating the case when he was a Federal Court reporter.

Martin once was praised in the House of Representatives by Rep. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) as being instrumental in ending "the most corrupt situation that could possibly exist in any Feedral Court."

The trustees named "The State of the Union," by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse as the best original play.

For the fourth time since the prizes were instituted in 1917, no award was made for the best novel. The trustees failed also to award a poetry prize, for the first time since that division was created in 1922. The trustees said no novel or verse submitted was of "sufficient excellence."

No award was made for 1945 news photography.

"Where'er I roam, I dream of Home"

EXCERPT FROM A SOLDIER'S LETTER

". . . So once again I view the saga of history and places. Beyond a doubt all States hold interest in their history, development and scenery, but I shall never tire of Pennsylvania. It alone embraces variety and romance that no other State can boast.

"I have found, in meeting men from all over the United States, that too few know much about their native States. I have recalled a hundred times the many trips we took as if they were yesterday. When I think of Pennsylvania, I see its very outline in my mind. The part that holds my interest for the moment is not just a name or a city; to me it is a picture, a scene in history, industry, a familiar road or mountain. It is a river or valley with a story that gives it a place in my memory.

"Who from somewhere else can say they saw and know where Marie Antoinette planned to make a home. Asylum! I climb again the steep winding stairs of Ephrata's Cloisters. I stand at night on Mt. Washington and look down at Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle and watch the great steel mills belching fire and smoke. I tour Philadelphia, walk in Independence Square, and touch the Liberty Bell.

"Valley Forge . . . Gettysburg . . . Fort Necessity . . . they made history-books come alive! Oil wells against the sky; coal mines . . . coal, hard and soft . . . and learning what goes on to bring it as a life-product to man.

"I think about Big Valley and see the Amish and Mennonite farmer folk with their queer clothes and recall stories of their strange customs.

"Pictures arise—the winding streams that challenge the fisherman; Lake Scranton, still as glass; looking for deer in the twilight woods; sleeping on a mountain top in Cook's Forest and watching the sun dispel the valley fog at day-break; camping in the summertime, picking huckleberries, and seeing teaberry leaves pressed into wintergreen oil.

"Who could be as lucky as I . . . to have been shown what beauty was in my own back yard! . . . And yet, so many, even from Pennsylvania, don't know these things exist . . ."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SINGLENESS OF MIND

To live is something far more than the mere fact of existence. It is a combination of many things but mainly taking things as they come, having no regrets, cultivating a love of beauty, constantly doing something useful, and walking straight forward with a singleness of mind

Nothing is more tragic than a waste of our resources—of our ideas, our physical strength, our time, our accumulated knowledge, or of our faith in ourselves.

All through life we should carry the remembrance of joys and laughter about with us. Their invisible return, from time to time, help enormously to keep us on an even keel, with the compass showing the way directly ahead.

Singleness of mind and purpose have saved many a man from turning backward, or from an ignominious defeat. The scars in the heart, resulting from many a spiritual contest, would show—if visibly revealed—a heart made all the stronger for every scar recorded.

Life is altogether too short, at its longest, for any waste of effort, for any idling or for useless bickering. Too many things ahead remain to be done. Too much joy to be extracted from work, and too much to gain from each opportunity offered, to let a single day end without advancement and an inward satisfaction.

An ever ready courage is essential to guide us through each day. We never know, when, or where, Misfortune may meet us. It is sufficient to be ready to meet whatever her demands may be. Singleness of mind is able to lead us out, far in front!

Our thoughts continually scatter to the four points of the compass, but a singleness of mind gathers the cream of them, compacting them into one forward movement of purpose. And these compacted thoughts are usually the unexpressed ones—the ones that breed at silent moments, or when the heart is at full heat!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Sincerity"

LONELINESS

Starting out without: "Good bye!"
Coming in without "Hello!"
Never more the twinkling eye
And the kiss of long ago.

Smiles—the mask of sham at best,
Just an overcoat for pain—
Worn, as sentinels are dressed,
Standing duty in the rain.

Silence when you climb the stair!
Silence when you dim the light!
Then, what hardest is to bear:
Off to sleep without: "Good night.!

LABOR LEADER SAYS STRIKES ARE JUSTIFIED

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—Labor's right to strike "must not be abridged" by short-sighted employers who are "determined to exploit" their workers, says President James L. McDevitt of the Pennsylvania state federation of labor.

The group, its 900 delegates to the 44th convention here claiming to represent 350,000 AFL workers in the Keystone state, prepared to discuss job opportunities at today's sessions, the second of a five-day conclave.

McDevitt told delegates yesterday he is opposed "to compulsory arbitration, no matter what form it takes" but insisted that workers, on certain occasions, are justified to strike.

Public Interest Cited

Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, however, asserted in an address that labor use the strike weapon only "as a last resort."

"We must all recognize that the interest of the general public is paramount to the interest of any group or section," Martin said. The governor is a candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator.

U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers (D-Pa). in another address, declared that labor and management should adopt a code "based on the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of both sides."

Another Pennsylvania Democratic senator, Joseph F. Guffey—currently a candidate for reelection to a third term—asserted "big business is making labor, along with OPA, the whipping boy of the postwar reconversion period in order to distract attention from the swindle of the century—inflation."

Shroyer Declares He Can Keep Peace

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Asserting his Republican opponents "hate labor," John U. Shroyer, candidate for the GOP nomination for governor, says "I can get and keep industrial peace in Pennsylvania."

"You don't get it by calling out the troops at the first sign of a labor dispute," he stated in a state-wide radio broadcast last night. "You don't get it by labor-baiting and labor-hating."

Shroyer asserted the "citizens of Pennsylvania are tired of strikes" and all groups "want industrial peace," but his primary election opposition "can't get and can't keep" it because "they don't understand labor and can't get along with labor."

"The philosophy of the Grundy-Taylor-Owlett machine that dominates your government today is the philosophy of the selfish and blind Pennsylvania manufacturers' association," Shroyer said.

"I refused to join the Pennsylvania manufacturers' association," he continued, "because I know that all they offer industry are a few petty savings at the expense of the needy and the worker—plus a heritage of violent industrial strife."

REMINISCENCES

of 70 Years in Gettysburg

By DR. HENRY STEWART

Fire Protection

Up to the period of the new water supply, Gettysburg's fire protection had progressed from the requirement that each house-holder must maintain two leather fire buckets at all times ready for fire protection, (the "bucket brigade") to the possession of two "fire engines." These were pumps, mounted on four wheels, hand operated by long bars on either side, by the fire companies and any one who volunteered.

The use of such pumps probably dated from the organization of the first fire company in 1808. The hose was small, usually in very dubious condition. The water supply was still more dubious—cisterns, wells that could be gotten at, any place where a bit of water could be found—and it was often not findable when badly needed. One good source in the east end of town was the spring-fed pool at the Rupp tannery, previously described, at York and Stratton streets.

The engines were housed in a one story building, on the site of the original portion of the present engine house.

Charles Comfort First Engineer

With the coming of an adequate water supply, came the purchase of the Silsby steamer—General Meade. Its first trial in the snow covered Center Square was recorded in a photograph by Mr. Tipton, of which there are some copies extant, but I do not have one.

Mr. Charles Comfort, who operated a steam-driven planing mill on the alley west of Baltimore street, (on the hill) was the first Engineer. (His was one of the early steam plants—preceded only, I think, by the bark mill at the Leeper tannery, and the foundry must have had steam power.)

After some years of service he was succeeded by Charles Wilson, then engineer at the foundry, who remained in charge of the engine until it was replaced by auto-motive pumps, after some thirty years of service.

Used To Keep Water Hot

Strange to relate, the engine was given an honorable retirement, in preservation. I was the last assistant engineer for a number of years. The engine was "man-drawn" except for parades when Mr. Jacob Herbst was always on hand with his team of big dray horses.

This meant that often a considerable bit of time was consumed in getting to outlying parts of the town—which often drew bitter criticisms. Eventually apparatus was installed to keep the water in the boiler hot at all times. This would work for a while until some one in the Council would kick about the expense. Then it would be stopped until some delay aroused public indignation—and so it went.

The original part of the engine house, built after the acquisition of the steamer, is unaltered, but considerable addition has been made on the west side to accommodate increase of apparatus.

It is estimated that there are 40,000 U. S. plants processing milk, butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy products.

CREDIT GIVEN REPORTER FOR COURT EXPOSE

Scranton, Pa., May 7 (AP)—George H. Martin, 38, assistant city editor of the Scranton (Pa.) Times, was credited today as the reporter most responsible for his newspaper winning the top 1945 Pulitzer Prize.

The Times was awarded a $500 gold medal for "meritorius public service" in helping uncover irregularities in the Pennsylvania Middle District Federal court.

Rep. Joseph E. Talbot (R-Conn), member of the House Judiciary subcommittee which charged resigned Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson of Lewisburg, Pa., with "selling justice," said "Martin's stories and his paper's editorials were instrumental in spotlighting attention on conditions in the court and helping to clean them up."

Rep. Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the committee, recently asserted in the house that Martin was instrumental in ending "the most corrupt situation that could possibly exist in any federal court." He urged them that both Martin and the Scranton Times should get Pulitzer prizes.

"Circumstances led me on the right track," he asserted, "I was going through the court reports and noticed what seemed to be irregularities in some of the rulings. I took a good look and reported what I saw."

That "good look" resulted in:

1. Investigation by Congress into Johnson's court and charges he "sold justice for all the traffic would bear."

2. The resignation of Johnson from the bench.

3. His indictment by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the United States and to obstruct justice.

4. Passage by the House and approval by a senate committee of unprecedented legislation denying a $10,000-a-year full-pay pension to the 73-year-old former jurist.

Kefauver in his House address said the work of both Martin and the Times in the case deserves "a very high place in the history of fine journalism and is an excellent demonstration of the value of a free and fearless press."

Martin, father of two children, began his newspaper career 23 years ago as a copy boy for the Binghamton (N.Y.) Sun. He is a native of Binghamton. He joined the Times in 1925 and was appointed assistant city editor last April 15.

WARFARE ON DOG

Buffalo, N. Y., (AP)—After a "dive-bombing" attack from sea gulls in the chill water of the barge canal yesterday, Tingy, a small Pekingese dog, was on the way to recovery today.

The dog was rescued by two men who said they had heard feeble barks and saw gulls swooping down on a "dark object" in the middle of the canal.

Ivanhoe
By Sir Walter Scott

IVANHOE

Chapter 30

What remains to be told can soon be done. Briefly, after the judicial combat, Cedric the Saxon was summoned to the court of Richard. Here, Richard so dealt with the noble Saxon, that, ere he had been a guest at court for seven days, he had given his consent to the marriage of his ward Rowena and his son Wilfred of Ivanhoe.

The nuptials of our hero, thus formally approved by his father, were celebrated in the most august of temples, the noble Minister of York. The King himself attended, from the countenance which he afforded on this and other occasions to the distressed and hitherto degraded Saxons, gave them a safer and more certain prospect of attaining their just rights, than they could reasonably hope from the precarious chance of a civil war. The Church gave her full solemnities, graced with all the spendour which she of Rome knows how to apply with such brilliant effect.

Gurth, gallantly aparelled, attended as esquire upon his young master whom he had served so faithfully, and the magnanimous Wamba, decorated with a new cap and a most gorgeous set of silver bells. Sharers of Wilfred's dangers and adversity, they remained, as they had a right to expect, the partakers of his more prosperous career.

It was upon the second morning after this happy bridal, that the Lady Rowena was made acquainted by her handmaid Elgitha, that a damsel desired admission to her presence, and solicited that their parley might be without witness. Rowena wondered, hesitated, became curious, and ended by commanding the damsel to be admitted, and her attendants to withdraw.

She entered—a noble and commanding figure, the long white veil, in which she was shrouded, overshadowing rather than concealing the elegance and majesty of her shape. Her demeanour was that of respect, unmingled by the least shade either of fear, or of a wish to propitiate favour. Rowena was ever ready to acknowledge the claims, and attend to the feelings of others. She arose, and would have conducted her lovely visitor to a seat; but the stranger looked at Elgitha, and again intimated a wish to discourse with the Lady Rowena alone. Elgitha had no sooner retired with unwilling steps, than, to the surprise of the Lady of Ivanhoe, her fair visitant kneeled on one knee, pressed her hands to her forehead, and bending her head to the ground, in spite of Rowena's resistance, kissed the embroidered hem of her tunic.

"What means this, lady?" said the surprised bride; "or why do you offer to me a deference so unusual?"

"Because to you, Lady of Ivanhoe," said Rebecca, rising up and resuming the usual quiet dignity of her manner, "I may lawfully, and without rebuke, pay the debt of gratitude which I owe to Wilfred of Ivanhoe. I am—forgive the boldness which has offered to you the homage of my country—I am the unhappy Jewess for whom your husband hazarded his life against such fearful odds in the tiltyard of Templestowe."

"Damsel," said Rowena, "Wilfred of Ivanhoe on that day rendered back but in slight measure your unceasing charity towards him in his wounds and mifortunes. Speak, is there aught remains in which he or I can serve thee?"

"Nothing," said Rebecca, calmly, "unless you will transmit to him my grateful farewell."

"You leave England, then?" said Rowena, scarce recovering her surprise of this extraordinary visit.

"I leave it, lady, ere this moon again changes. My father hath a brother high in favour with Mohammed Boadbil, King of Granada—thither we go, secure of peace and protection, for the payment of such ransom as the Moslem exact from our people. One, the most trifling part of my duty, remains undischarged. Accept this casket—startle not at its contents."

Rowena opened the small silver-chased casket, and perceived a carcanet, or necklace, with earjewels, of diamonds, which were obviously of immense value.

"It is impossible," she said, tendering back the casket. "I dare not accept a gift of such consequence."

"Yet keep it, lady," returned Rebecca. "Think ye that I prize these sparkling fragments of stone above my liberty? or that my father values them in comparison to the honour of his only child? Accept them, lady—to me they are valueless. I will never wear jewels more."

"You are then unhappy!" said Rowena, struck with the manner in which Rebecca uttered the last words. "O, remain with us—the counsel of holy men will wean you from your erring law, and I will be a sister to you."

"No," lady," answered Rebecca, "Farewell. May He, who made both Jew and Christian, shower down on you His choicest blessings! The bark that wafts us hence will be under weigh ere we can reach the port."

She glided from the apartment, leaving Rowena surprised as if a vision has passed before her. The fair Saxon related the singular conference to her husband, on whose mind it made a deep impression. He lived long and happily with Rowena, for they were attached to each other by the bonds of early affection, and they loved each other the more, from the recollection of the obstacles which had impeded their union.

Ivanhoe distinguished himself in the service of Richard, and was graced with farther marks of the royal favour. He might have risen still higher, but for the premature death of the heroic Coeur-de-Lion before the Castle of Chaluz, near Limoges. With the life of a generous, but rash and romantic, monarch perished all the projects which his ambition and his generosity had formed.

Omission Saves Long Jail Term

Pittsburgh, May 7 (AP)—A few words were left out of the sentence given John Yonis, 39, of Braddock, in January, 1939, with the result that he has been saved 10 to 20 years in prison.

He was originally given 10 to 20 years plus an additional sentence of the same period, under the habitual criminal act, for a gas station robbery.

But Judge John P. Egan ruled yesterday that as his second sentence did not specify he was sentenced "as a habitual criminal," he need not serve the term.

Yonis, who still has two years to serve on his first term, said:

"They'll never get me there again."

SUPREME SACRIFICE

Philadelphia, (AP)—Mrs. Julia Parker, 60, knocked down by an automobile last night as she crossed a midtown street didn't mind the bruises—but she glanced sadly at torn stockings.

"It was my last pair of nylons," she said.

Miss Jean Giletti, 22, a passenger in the car, took off her own nylons and gave them to Mrs. Parker.

RUPTURE
SHIELD EXPERT HERE
H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Washington Hotel, Chambersburg, Saturday only, May 11, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangement and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.
Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

SEEK TO LIFT RUSSIAN VEIL ON CONTINENT

By FLORA LEWIS

Paris, May 7 (AP)—The United States and Britain were reported ready to insist that Russia life the veil of secrecy from Eastern Europe as the foreign ministers turned today to the consideration of peace treaties with Balkan nations.

An American source said that U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was prepared to demand that barriers be removed from the Russian occupied zone of Germany.

This source said that Byrnes planned to bring up both the Potsdam agreement and his proposed four-power mutual assistance pact on disarmament of Germany in an attempt to break down the Russian wall.

Some American officials were inclined to link the vigorous Russian opposition to Byrnes' proposed treaty with the fact that the treaty would allow a four-power commission to roam through all parts of the Reich.

Although the ministers have listed the German situation at the final item on their agenda and there is some indication that Byrnes may not raise the question of Russian barriers until the German issue is reviewed—it is being discussed outside the conference room by American, British and French representatives.

Meanwhile, delegations from Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary converged on Paris to present their cases to the ministers, who decided yesterday to abandon at least temporarily the explosive Italian question.

V. M. Molotov, Soviet foregn minister, was reported to have offered to abandon Russian demands for $300,000,000 in reparations from Italy and for a dominant position in Tripolitania, providing Trieste were given to Yugoslavia.

Byrnes, however, refused to yield, conference sources said.

LONG TERM INVESTMENT

Philadelphia, (AP)—Clarence S. Keator donated 73 cents to his church's building fund when he was six years old.

Keator, now 46, got the money back today on order of Orphans' Court.

An endowment fund of $47,296.65 raised by the North Broad street Presbyterian church in 1906 stipulated the money was to be returned to original subscribers when the church was dissolved.

Armstrong Plant Workers Get Boosts

Beaver Falls, May 7 (AP)—A 63-day old strike of 300 workers at the Beaver Falls plant of the Armstrong Cork company ended yesterday.

Work was resumed after an 18½ cents hourly wage increase asked by the CIO-United Rubber Workers was granted.

A strike of about 800 workers at the company's Pittsburgh plant, idle 107 days, ended last Thursday.

MENTAL HEALTH PLAN PROPOSED

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—A nonprofit national mental health foundation, designed to seek treatment for an estimated 8,000,000 Americans "in need of psychiatric care and treatment," has been organized by a group of the nation's leading citizens, former supreme court justice Owen J. Roberts discloses.

Roberts said sponsors of the foundation include Mrs. Harry S. Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Anthor Pearl S. Buck, Actress Helen Hayes, publisher Henry R. Luce; Sidney Hillman, chairman of CIO-political action committee; Dr. Thomas Parran, director of U. S. public health service; Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, and Author Thomas Mann.

Seek Higher Standards

The retired high court jurist asserted in a statement yesterday the foundation would "help interpret to the public the nature of mental illness and mental deficiency" and "cooperate with others in the promotion of mental health."

Additionally, he said, the group will "seek higher standards of cure and treatment in mental hospitals.

Roberts said that the U. S. public health service reports "more than half of all the hospital beds in America are occupied by mental patients x x x yet there are less than 4,000 pyschiatrists to give adequate care to the mentally ill."

Escaped Slayer Is Back In Jail

Pittsburgh, May 7 (AP)—James Henry Kent, 45, escaped slayer, was in Allegheny county jail today, awaiting his return to Somerset county.

Kent was captured May 21 in Las Vegas, Nev., and yesterday was arraigned before Federal Judge Wallace S. Gourley, who signed an order for his return from federal to state authorities.

Kent escaped from the Somerset county jail more than a year ago while awaiting sentence for the killing of George Kern, Johnstown dental technician.
